CA Technologies Partners with Ironman Triathlete Scott Rigsby *Supporters Asked to Set “Unthinkable” Goals to Help US Wounded Warriors

October 3, 2011 — The Scott Rigsby Foundation announced today that Scott Rigsby, the first double amputee to complete the Ford Ironman World Championship triathlon using prosthetics, and his foundation, are teaming with CA Technologies to help Wounded Warriors and their families to reintegrate into a healthy lifestyle after their service in Operation Iraqi Freedom and Operation Enduring Freedom (OIF/OEF).

“Doing the Unthinkable” is a motto Scott Rigsby embraced when he decided to change the world by breaking down barriers for physically challenged athletes. With the sponsorship of CA Technologies, he’s going back to Hawaii on October 8th, 2011 to complete the race again, but this time on a mission to raise funds to support The Scott Rigsby Foundation Wounded Warrior program.

“CA Technologies is proud to support The Scott Rigsby Foundation Wounded Warrior program , said Jon Hunter, senior vice president, North America, CA Technologies. “We are pleased to recognize the service and achievements of veterans and acknowledge their invaluable contributions. As a company, it is important to share our commitment to giving back and taking care of our communities, including our veterans and their families.”

The number of OIF/OEF soldiers with loss of limbs or mobility has risen above 1,200, the largest in American history with, suicide rates increasing annually at alarming rates. Wounded soldiers that have suffered lost limbs or mobility, traumatic brain injuries and post traumatic stress disorder, require specialized resources and mentorship to reintegrate with their families and community.

“Key military officials are publically communicating the overwhelming challenges they face with the number of warriors needing assistance beyond the reach of the Veterans Administration,” said Scott Johnson, Executive Director, The Scott Rigsby Foundation. “These soldiers inspired Scott Rigsby to embrace the true meaning of courage. We are honored to be paying it forward by working with CA Technologies and expanding the support we can offer to those who have made the ultimate sacrifice.”
